MASTERS ELECTED PRINCIPAL OF HIGH SCHOOL BY BOARD.

There Were Four Applicants for the Position, Prof. Lin M. Jaco Receiving Votes of Two Directors.

MISS ZUFALL ALSO ELECTED.

Will Be Teacher of English in the High School—All Other Elections Deferred—Treasurer Irwin Ordered to Advertise for Bids for Funds.

A most harmonious meeting of the Borough School Board was held last night in the High School building, the principal business of which was the election of a principal and a teacher of English for the High School. Fred G. Masters was elected principal on the first ballot, receiving the votes of Directors O'Connor, Atkinson, Gans, McGinnis and Schenck, a total of five. Directors Holt and Shupe voted for Prof. Lin M. Jaco. The applicants for the position were Fred G. Masters, Lin M. Jaco B. T. Johnston and J. S. Kimmell. The merits of all were discussed before the vote was taken. Professor Jaco, is was understood, had been elected Principal of the South Connellsville schools and therefore had some sentiment against him on account of the Board not desiring to take him from that community where he has a splendid reputation for teaching.

There were five applicants in the field for the election of a teacher in English for the High School. They were:

Miss Lena Zufall, Meyersdale.
Miss Catherine M. Ullery, Greensburg.
Miss Gertrude S. Pollock, Buckhannon, W. Va.
Miss Ella M. Turner, Glenville, W. Va.
Miss Grace A. Jenks, Kidwell, W. Va.

There was some delay in getting to the vote, some of the members being of the opinion that a man would be better qualified for the position, but on motion of Dr. Atkinson the vote was taken and resulted in the selection of Miss Zufall.

The salary of the Principal was fixed at $1,200 per year as previously, and that of the teacher of English at $80 per month. In her application Miss Zufall asked $85 per month. Dr. Shupe moved to make the salary $75 per month, but after discussion $80 per month was agreed upon.

The election of all other teachers was deferred until the next regular meeting of the Board. There are three teachers yet to elect, and possibly a fourth. One of these is the assistant in the High School, another a teacher in drawing and third a teacher in writing. The election of the fourth teacher is contingent upon what disposition is made regarding the establishment of Room No. 9 on the South Side, which will be decided by Principal Deffenbaugh.

The application of Stanley J. Asho as assistant general teacher in the High School, was held over until the next meeting, the Directors not desiring to act upon a single application, preferring to have more applicants to choose from.

Treasurer John Irwin was present and reported that he had not received any proposition for the use of the unchecked funds of the School Board. He said that he did not fully understand that he was to request banks and individuals to submit bids. On motion of Director O'Connor, it was decided to have the Treasurer advertise for bids for the funds in local papers and to have them opened at the next meeting of the Board. Individuals, as well as banks and trust companies, are allowed to submit bids, the only question entering into the bidding is the security which the Board, as a whole, will act upon. The bids are to be made for the entire amount of the funds and the average monthly balances are to rule in the calculation of interest. Director Schenck voted against the motion, stating that he did not fully understand its import.

The Building Committee reported that they had made a round of all the schools and suggested some repairs. At the High School building they suggested that it be repapered and thoroughly cleaned. The Principal's large room they found all right, but the closets needed painting and the halls brightening up. An exchange of several desks would also be an improvement.

In the old Fourth Ward building they suggested that Rooms Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 6, 8 and 10 be repapered and that the blackboards in Nos. 1, 6, 7 and 13 be repainted; a new teacher's desk in No. 5; a new rope on the flag pole and repairs to the slate roof.

In the Third Ward the committee found that all the rooms needed repainting, but they believed that the rooms would be good enough for the coming term, and the improvements were deferred until next year.

In the Second Ward, the committee recommended papering No. 1, papering and cleaning No. 3 and renovating the hall.

As a general suggestion the committee recommended the whitewashing of all basements. Bids were submitted for the papering of 12 rooms and the halls and cloak rooms in the High School building as follows:

Shaw & Keslar	$112.40
U. D. Snyder	130.00
O. S. Gettys	125.00

The contract was awarded to Shaw & Keslar with instructions to begin work at once. The other repairs were left in the hands of the Building Committee.

President J. L. Gans, Secretary W. D. McGinnis, W. E. Schenck, Frank O'Connor and Thomas Holt were present at the meeting. Drs. Shupe and Atkinson came in during the session. Director W. H. Brown was absent at the Fayette bar picnic. Adjournment was taken shortly before 10 o'clock.

Fred G. Masters, who was elected principal of the High School was assistant last term. He had charge of the laboratory and chemical department and is a graduate of Gettysburg College.

Miss Zufall has taught several terms in the Meyersdale public schools and is a graduate of Irvin College and comes well recommended.

TOO SLOW FOR HER.

Edna Bigam Leaves Her Home for Gayer Life of the Town.

WAS ARRESTED FOR STEALING.

Took a Suit Case Full of Clothing and Was About to Depart With It—Had a Stolen Waist on When Arrested and Had to Disrobe.

Tiring of her home in the mountains near Mill Run and seeking the gayer life of town, where she became wayward, fifteen year old Edna Bigam, daughter of James Bigam, spent last night in the police station, and has every chance of going to a reform school. The girl has been in Connellsville for some time, and only last week her father was here in search of her. Yesterday an information charging Miss Bigam with theft was made by Mrs. Joseph Trombley of South Connellsville and the girl was arrested later at the house of a neighbor.

Mrs. Matthew Monaghan where the girl formerly worked was also interested in her arrest. The information charged that Edna took one black dress, valued at $20, a white silk waist, value at $3, two white lawn waists, valued at $2.50 and a pair of black stockings. Constable Crossland placed the girl under arrest as she was about to depart. Her suit case was brought to the office of Justice W. P. Clark and in the presence of the women opened. All the articles alleged to be missing were in the case, except one shirt waist which the girl had on. Justice Clark requested her to step to a small closet in his office and remove it. She did so without protest and then entered a plea of guilty. She was held for court and her father notified.

Edna has been living rather high since she was locked up, and has had many admirers calling upon her. She is the recipient of very good meals sent in by her friends and ice cream and fruit have been delivered regularly to her. She says that she has no time for the mountains and doesn't want to go back home. Her father in all probability will have her sent to an institution.

The batteries were Hudson and Lardin; Matthews and Crider.

The picnic was one of the most enjoyable in the history of the Association. The gathering consumed fifty chickens besides great quantities of other edibles. J. C. WORK FOR ORPHANS' COURT

Had No Opposition for Nomination to the Ten Year Term and Byrne Had None for County Chairman—Meeting None for County Chairman—Knox Endorsed for President.

UNIONTOWN, July 11.—The Republican Central County Committee of Fayette county convened at 1.30 o'clock this afternoon in the large court room. Committeemen from all districts in the county were present. Chairman Logan Rush called the meeting to order and stated its objects, that of being called for the purpose of selecting a County Chairman to succeed himself, a candidate for the 10 year term on the Orphans' Court bench and a candidate for County Surveyor.

The credentials of the committeemen were quickly placed in shape and John R. Byrne was nominated to succeed Mr. Rush. He was unanimously elected, having no opposition. His good party work is responsible for his selection. He is known as a splendid political hustler and all his campaigns have been shrewdly conducted. He was considered by all present as the strongest possible candidate for the position.

Judge J. Clark Work was unanimously chosen as a candidate to succeed himself as Orphan's Court judge for the ten year term. All considered him the logical candidate for the position. Since his appointment at the time of the creation of the Orphans' Court he has served with distinction and satisfaction. The new Chairman was given power to select his Secretaries.

James B. Hogg of Connellsville was chosen to fill the place of County Surveyor on the ticket. Mr. Hogg is well known throughout the county, and is deemed a capable and able man for the position.

The convention was in session just ten minutes. There was an unusually large attendance. The only resolution presented and unanimously adopted was that offered by Senator W. E. Crow endorsing Senator P. C. Knox for the Republican nomination for President.

AUTO CRUSHED.

Miss Helen Overholt and Party of Friends of Scottdale Are Caught By Freight.

SCOTTDALE, July 11.—Given a signal to come ahead an automobile filled with Miss Helen Overholt, daughter of B. Frank Overholt and three young friends was trapped between two sections of a train Wednesday afternoon and crushed, the occupants narrowly escaping with their lives. Miss Overholt with three young friends in her father's large touring car, in charge of William Horner, the chauffeur, went out Broadway, and at the Pennsylvania railroad crossing near Ruth's planing mill they were halted by a freight train which came along just then. The train was cut for the crossing, implying that it would remain there for some time, and a brakeman, it is said, gave a signal for the party to cross over the track. They were near the crossing then and when it was on the track between the two parts of the train the engine of the pusher, without any warning, it is claimed, gave a shove and closed the train, catching the auto, tearing off the three wheels and smashing the body. How the occupants got out is almost beyond understanding.

The Roth crossing is dangerous at all times, and the surrounding circumstances of the accident makes it marvelous that there was not an overpowering tragedy.

The trainmen, it is said, claim they warned the party not to attempt to cross the tracks. There have been numerous complaints made recently about crews holding the crossing shut for extended periods.

FIVE STRAIGHT GAMES

Taken From Butler by Denny O'Hara and His Husky Crew.

HARD HITTING MARKED LAST.

Pitcher Roche Was Touched Up for Fourteen Singles by Connellsville, While Welsh Held Butler Safe all the Way—Somerset Plays Today.

Denny O'Hara's Coke Heavers made it five in a row from Butler by taking yesterday's game to the tune of 9 to 3. Superior all round play was responsible for the victory, the locals outhitting, out running and out fielding the visitors in all departments of the game. It was a clean victory. Roche, the best Butler has in the twirling line, occupied the mound and was touched up for 14 hits. His delivery was at no time a puzzle, and Connellsville got hits when they needed them. Eliam was the only Connellsville player failing to hit safe, but as he made three runs that is excusable. Laird was the particular batting star, getting a two bagger and two singles as well as fielding in fine style.

Starting in the first inning the locals piled up two runs and continued to score until a commanding lead was gained. To Frankenberry is due credit for two of Butler's runs, the third being forced in when Welsh passed Roche with the bases full. The fourth and fifth were the only innings in which Connellsville failed to tally. Following is the game in detail:

First inning: Linneborn popped out to Amsbry, Jacobson singled but was caught napping off first base, Nagle drew a pass but Clark fanned and retired the side.

O'Hara opened for the Coke Heavers by flying out to left field. Amsbry singled and took second when Eliam drew four wide ones. Both men advanced a base on a wild pitch and Tate walked. Tiffany hit a long fly to right on which Amsbry scored. Eliam tallied on Birmingham's single. The side was retired when Francis fanned.

Second inning: Harkins singled and advanced a sack on Wardman's sacrifice. Huffnagle fouled to Tiffany, who made a pretty catch after a hard run. Harkins scored from second on Frankenberry's single to middle, Franky taking second on the throw in. Roche went out from Amsbry to Tiffany.

Laird opened the second, for Connellsville with a slashing two bagger through middle. He was sent to third on a pretty sacrifice by Welsh and scored when Jacobson dropped O'Hara's long fly to left. O'Hara took second on the play and stole third. He came home on Amsbry's fly to left. Eliam flew out to Clark, retiring the side.

Third inning: Linneborn went out, short to first, Jacobson flew to Laird and Nagle died by the Birmingham-Tiffany route.

Tate opened the inning with a hit, going to second on Tiffany's single. Both men went up a base when Birmingham singled. Francis popped an easy one to Huffnagle, but Tate scored when Nagle foozled Laird's drive. Welsh filed out to Huffnagle.

Fourth inning: Clark walked, Harkins flew to Laird. Clark was nipped at second on Wardman's drive to Amsbry, the batter being too fast for the completion of a double play. Huffnagle singled. A base on balls to Frankenberry filled the sacks and another to Roche forced in a run. It looked bad for Connellsville, but Linneborn was retired from second to first.

Amsbry flew out to Harkins, Eliam took first by being hit and later scored on Tate's two bagger. Tiffany fouled to Wardman, Birmingham walked. Francis went out, Roche to Huffnagle.

Fifth inning: Jacobson, Nagle and Clark were easy outs, on a line drive to Tiffany, a fly to Francis and a strikeout.

Laird flew to Nagle, Welsh singled, went to second on O'Hara's hit and was caught napping off second. Amsbry fanned.

Sixth inning: Harkins singled and then was caught at second when Wardman hit to Eliam. Amsbry made a bad throw to first in trying to complete a double play. Huffnagle flew to Laird. Wardman scored on Frankenberry's three bagger to left. Roche fanned.

Eliam and Tate were retired at first by Linneborn and Roche. Tiffany flew to Harkins, who made a splendid catch of the low hit.

Seventh inning: Flies to O'Hara and Amsbry and another to O'Hara retired Linneborn, Jacobson and Nagle in order.

Birmingham went down, short to first, Francis flew to Linneborn and Laird singled. Welsh followed with another single and a hit by O'Hara filled the bases. Amsbry hit to short and Huffnagle dropped the throw, Laird scoring. In the excitement O'Hara ran down to third and Welsh was run down between third and home.

Eighth inning: Clark died by way of Amsbry and Tiffany. Harkins knocked a high one to Birmingham and Wardman expired on a grounder to Eliam, being thrown out at first.

Eliam walked and took second on Tate's little hit to Roche. Tiffany popped one up for Nagle. Birmingham's single scored Eliam. A single by Francis got Birmingham to third and Laird's hit brought him home, Welsh fanned, retiring the side.

Ninth inning: Huffnagle singled and was caught napping off the bag. Frankenberry flew to O'Hara, Roche singled but died at second on Linneborn's hit to Amsbry. This ended the fifth lesson. Score:

BASEBALL NOTES.

Doings of the Players in the West Penn and the P. O. M.

Griffin for Connellsville and Hoffman for Butler umpired splendidly. Their decisions were unanimously satisfactory. Some kicks were made in the grandstand that were unwarranted.

And still we go up.

Some of the rooting in the grandstand was tiresome. There is such a thing as carrying the matter too far.

One of the Connellsville Directors seemed to take especial delight in roasting the Butler players. A more gentlemanly lot has never played in Connellsville this season.

Butler will get a warm reception at home today.

Here's hoping Butler cuts down Fairmont's lead.

Welsh made a star play in backing up Birmingham when Tiffany made a high throw to third. The little fellow is always in the game.

Both Eliam and Amsbry made bad throws to first in trying to complete a double play. In Eliam's case the runner had the ball beat out.

Francis and Welsh were the only Connellsville players who failed to make a run.

Maybe Laird wasn't hitting some.

Somerset is the next victim. Malarkey's crew is due here for three games commencing this afternoon. Billy can be depended upon to have a strong team.

Frankenberry caught a great game for Butler. Tate is fast improving behind the bat and his leg is a great deal better.

Laing will probably pitch today.

Five straight games from Butler and seven victories in succession is certainly going some. The team is playing fine ball.

Francis swatted a ball which struck him in the neck and later fanned at one Frankenberry had to dig down in the ground for. In the latter case it was the third strike.

Birmingham drove in two runs with his trusty willow. Not often that boy's hits go for naught. Laird also sent two runs across the pan with his drives.

Twelve men on bases doesn't look good for Connellsville when 14 hits were made off Roche.

Uniontown falls back on the old excuse of blaming yesterday's defeat at Scottdale on the umpire. If the Champs had swatted the ball a little at the right time they would have overcome any defects of the umpire. Pat Moran is also singled out in a Uniontown paper for losing the game by a low throw to first and the man scored, tieing the game after Uniontown had it won. No mention of blame for the loss of the game by Roberts is made.

Butler expects great crowds out to see the Fairmont series this week. The first game will be called this evening at 6 o'clock.

The Butler Eagle says the Butler team "went out of the gate Tuesday with trembling lip and gave the crowd the pathetic eye."

Beaver Falls has been coming with a rush. Yesterday's setback hurt some.

"Sycamore" Powell's bunch were thumped by Clarksburg again yesterday. The Red Socks are on the toboggan.

Buckwheat Jackson is pitching in much better form for Fairmont than he was earlier in the season. He shut Beaver Falls out yesterday with three hits.

Uniontown fans who went to Scottdale yesterday dropped a big wad of money. They bet two to one that the Champs would win. There are a few boys in Scottdale who know a good bet and they put down all the coin the Uniontown fellows were willing to put up that Billy Earle's bunch would be returned winners. Last summer Scottdale took a tidy wad from Uniontown and this year the Champs were tipped off to win it back for their supporters. There is joy in Scottdale today.

A double season will create new interest in the West Penn. Fairmont has a lead that could hardly be overcome and some of the teams which got a poor start, even should they win three-fourths of their games, could not recover the ground they have lost in one continuous season.

Billy Malarkey can be depended upon to give Somerset a good ball team. He will have plenty of good material to choose from. The games here this week will be no criterion of what he will have when he gets rightly started at Somerset next week.

BEAT CHESTY CHAMPS

Scottdale Trimmed P. O. M. Team in Fifteen Innings.

THE FIELDING WAS BRILLIANT.

Farmer, at Short for Scottdale, Played a Phenomenal Game, While Humphries Was Master of the Situation at All Stages.

SCOTTDALE, July 11.—There was joy unconfined in this town last night. Billy Earle's ball tossers took the chesty P. O. M. Champions from Uniontown into camp by a score of 4 to 3 in fifteen hard fought innings. It was a great game. Uniontown's kick that Umpire Roeper aided Scottdale is a flimsy excuse. Humphries had the Champs faded. They got 16 hits off him in fifteen innings, but he was master of the situation at all stages. In fact Humphries suffered as much as did Farmer Brown in the balls and strikes decisions.

Farmer ,the new man at short for Scottdale, played a phenomenal game. He was all over the diamond and gathered in chances that seemed ticketed for singles and extra base hits. Welty also played a bang up game at first for Scottdale. Earle's boys went through the entire game with but one slip up, an error by Slevin that did no damage. In the game but eight Scottdale players and six of the Uniontown men were left on bases. The Champs had three errors, one of them a low throw by Moran to first permitting two men to move up a base.

Uniontown scored in the first inning on a brace of two base hits by Roberts and Keller, sandwiched by a neat sacrifice hit by McClosky, Roberts scoring. In the third Scottdale scored two on errors by Rudolph and Moran, followed by a hit across third base. Moran's error was a wild throw to first allowing the two runners to reach second and third.

In the fifth the champions tied the score. Rudolph walked and was sent to second on a sacrifice by Osborne. Smith hit a single to left scoring Rudolph. For eight innings each side was blanked. Both pitchers were working fine and support received was of the perfect order. Roberts at third, McClosky at short and Smith at second were all over the diamond as were also the three men playing those positions for the West Penn Leaguers. Farmer at short for Scottdale made a remarkable catch of a line drive from Rudolph's bat, while Freddie Roberts broke down hit after hit at third. Harry Keller made the greatest catch of the day in the outfield. It was a hard run into deep right field.

In the fourteenth inning each team scored. Uniontown was first to the bat. Roberts beat out a hunt. McClosky sacrificed. Keller flied out to middle and Davis walked. Humphries threw bad to catch Roberts napping at second and Freddie hiked to third. White picked up the ball and threw wild over third and Roberts scooted home.

For Scottdale, with one out Roberts threw low to first. A two base hit followed, putting a runner on second and third. A single to left scored one man and Rudolph caught the second man attempting to score by a neat throw to the plate.

Uniontown was blanked in the fifteenth inning. For Scottdale a single to left followed by an out from short to first put a man on second. Another safe hit to left ended the game. The score follows:

B. & O. CLERKS WON.

Trimmed the City Clerks Last Evening Three to One.

The B. & O. Clerks added another scalp to their rapidly increasing list last evening when they trimmed the City Clerks in a five inning game at the park by a score of three to one. It was a fine clean game. All the runs were earned but one. Both pitchers were given fine support. Sandy Mason pitched for the B. & O. Clerks and Moore at the receiving end handled his delivery nicely. Chip Trenberth and Sembower were the battery for the City Clerks. There were no long hits on either side.

The B. & O. Clerks have a clean string of victories, but several of the City League nine are out for revenge within the coming week or ten days.

P. O. M. RESULTS.

Washington and Charleroi Were the Winners Yesterday.

Two games were played in the P. O. M. yesterday. Washington beat Braddock six to three and Charleroi turned the trick on the hard luck McKeesport outfit four to two. This afternoon at Uniontown a hot series opens between Zanesville and the Champs. Hogan does not have as good a team as he had on the last visit. However, he can always be depended upon to make matters interesting. Cooney, the star Princeton athlete, a hero of the gridiron and diamond among Tiger students, is catching for Zanesville under the name of Lawrence Newcomb, another Princeton man, is playing the outfield.

SOMERSET NEWS.

Happenings of a Day Among the Frosty Sons of Thunder.

SOMERSET, July 10.—M. H. Filer, Clerk of Courts, has sent the papers in the case of Joe DeFrancesco to the State Board of Pardons and the matter will be taken up at 10 o'clock on next Wednesday, July 17. Attorneys Berkey & Shaver represent DeFrancesco. DeFrancesco was convicted at the December criminal court of killing a fellow countryman, Tony Dominic, with an axe, near Boynton last fall in order to obtain about $500 which deceased was known to carry on his person habitually.

Owing to the various confessions made by DeFrancesco in the presence of witnesses he was convicted and sentenced to be hanged. Governor Pennypacker was asked to fix a date for his execution but for some reason this was not done. Governor Stuart claims that he has no authority to fix a date for the execution and while the matter has been under consideration DeFrancesco has become a maniac. He is a nuisance at the jail and his violent attacks upon the officials render it very arduous to take care of him. No straight jackets or other appliances will hold him. The purpose of this application to the Board of Pardons is to have his sentence commuted to life imprisonment. DeFrancesco has no funds nor has he access to funds so that some time was necessarily spent in making the necessary arrangements before taking the matter before the Pardon Board.

Gilmore S. Hammel, a prominent attorney, and Mr. Macandles, a banker, both of Oakland, Md., were in Somerset yesterday on business. Both are well known here.

Miss Mamie Vinton, who has been visiting friends and relatives here for a week, returned to her home in Johnstown last night. She was accompanied by Miss Mary Miller of Somerset, who will visit her for a short time.

Rev. George Knepper, formerly pastor of the Christian Church here, but now pastor of the First Christian Church, Wilkinsburg, is visiting in Somerset.

James S. Begley, editor of the Berlin Gleaner, is visiting friends at Normalville, Fayette county.

The following Connellsville people are registered at the hotels here. C. W. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Boyts, F. J. Bauer, J. J. Daugherty, J. H. Moore, A. G. Hoover of Ohiopyle is also registered.

Attorney J. C. Lowery has purchased the Rudolph Hoover farm, south of Somerset. It is stated that he has disposed of his farm in Addison township.

Charles H. Ealy, a student in the law offices of Ruppel & Uhl, has returned from a two weeks' visit to his native town, Schellsburg, Bedford county.

Martin Martin, a Sophomore at Pennsylvania College, Gettysburg, has accepted a position as travelling salesman for Charles H. Fisher & Son, well known merchants of this town.

Mrs. Frank Cunningham has returned from Pittsburg where she has been visiting.

The warring trolley companies are still at it in Somerset county and Judge Kooser's principal employment at present is the granting of injunctions and awarding rules on one company or the other and occasionally, by way of variety, on the B. & O.

Yesterday Attorneys Koontz & Ogle, representing the recently enjoined B. & O., presented a petition for a rule to show cause why H. H. Maust and John M. Wright, the life and soul of the Pennsylvania & Maryland Street Railway, should not be attached for contempt in violating their own injunction a day or two ago restraining the B. & O. from tampering with the tracks of the P. & M. at points where the tracks of the two companies cross. This rule was awarded and was made returnable on next Tuesday, July 16.

Attorney A. C. Holbert, Koontz & Ogle, and Harvey M. Berkey, yesterday afternoon were awarded a rule to show cause why the Pennsylvania & Maryland Street Railway Company should not be attached for contempt in violating an injunction granted early in December by Judge Kooser and restraining them from trespassing upon the rights of way claimed by the Meyersdale & Salisbury Street Railway Company. The rule was made returnable at the same time as the above mentioned rule and at that time Judge Kooser will take the matter up.

The protracted and technical litigation which occupied the time of the court last winter for several months will not be forgotten soon. Judge Kooser has the papers and will likely hand down a decision in a short time. The decision, unless the matter is carried to a higher court, will terminate the existence of one company or the other. Both trolley companies claim the same rights of way and each seems able to show a title although the original owner was the Meyersdale & Salisbury Company. About half a million dollars is at stake.

FLATWOODS.

Personal Mention From the Stronghold of Mart Townsend.

FLATWOODS, July 10.—A very pleasant surprise birthday party was given by the Flatwoods Sunday school in honor of the 45th birthday of the Superintendent, M. E. Townsend, Saturday evening July 6. Brother Townsend and wife had been invited to eat supper with William Armstrong and wife at Perryopolis, arranged for the purpose of getting Mr. Townsend away from home, and he was no sooner gone than members of the Sunday school began to arrive and make preparations for the event. at 9 o'clock the school formed in line on both sides of the driveway, reaching from the gate almost to the barn, each teacher being with her class, which made more than 200 in line. Mr. Townsend did not suspicion anything until he arrived at the gate and saw the crowd, and his wife said, "This is your birthday."

Amid the waving of handkerchiefs and applause, Mr. Townsend was escorted through the procession. Alighting at the further end he was then escorted to a chair on the porch where a program of about one hour in length was carried out.

Instrumental music was furnished by Prof. L. L. Mosier and two of the Brown sisters of Waltersburg. The Perryopolis MaleQuartet composed of Prof. W. R. Fhelky Prof. Clark Stephens, Prof. J. Buell Snyder and Norman Leichliter, sang some beautiful selections. Prayer was offered by Rev. P. T. Dennis. Two songs by seven little girls and a pantomime, "Nearer My God to Thee," by six little girls, were well rendered.

A number of recitations, one of which is worthy of special mention, that spoken by Otis Rittenhouse, subject, "To Our Superintendent." The pastor, Rev. James S. Jewell, in behalf of the school, then presented the Superintendent with a beautiful golden quartered oak rocker, upholstered in leather. The Superintendent then spoke feelingly of the relation between himself and the school and of his appreciation of their coming to his home and for thus showing their appreciation of his work, closing with an earnest plea for their continued aid to make the school even better in the future than in the past.

The ladies then served ice cream, cake and coffee. Mr. Townsend is now serving his fourth year as Superintendent and during his administration the school has constantly grown.

Prof. Clark Stephens and two daughters from near Fayette City were over Sunday visiting relatives in the community.

Next Sunday morning at the Baptist Church the pastor will preach on "Preparation for the Lord's Supper." In the evening the third of the series on "Ideals," viz.: "An Ideal Husband and Father."

Preparations are being made to hold a reunion of all the teachers and pupils who have ever attended school at Jackson school house in Perry township. A meeting is called at the home of Commissioner M. B. Tow send next Saturday afternoon to take such steps as are necessary to hold such a meeting in the early fall.

CONFLUENCE.

Interesting Items From Somerset County's Hustling Town.

CONFLUENCE, July 10.—The fire company found a new usage for the hose and water. They do not believe in always turning the water on fires. Last evening Policeman Hawkie captured several prisoners and they were placed in the lockup, but they were not content and soon broke the window pane and began to disturb the public by calling, etc., when the hose was attached to a fire plug, and quiet was restored after they had received a good bath. DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

WHEN MY FEET HURT I AM SICK

I don't know how it is with you but when my feet are not comfortable I am not good for anything. Do you know the feet are the most part of a fellow makeup. You can sleep with your head out of the window and wake up all right, but the least draft on your feet will make you take cold.

A man made a fortune selling powder called foot ease. He should have added to his advertisement "to people whose shoes don't fit." If you think that way I want to disabuse your mind.

There is a shoe made by JOHN IRWIN in BOSTON that will fit you, too. If you have not tried a pair you do not know what comfort the shoe gives one you. Another thing—do not think because these shoes are low on your feet that they are not stylish. They are right down to the minute. They come in the latest shapes and all leathers.

GOVERNMENT FOR THE PEOPLE.

After all the clouds of dissension that have lowered thick and black and threatening over the School Board it is at once interesting and gratifying to note that the final work of organization is being completed with a harmony that floods the whole proceedings with sunshine and makes the laymen wonder what all the fuss was about.

The happy ending of what promised to be a complete disruption of the board teaches the value of being temperate in language, considerate of the feelings of others and respectful of their convictions keeping steadily in mind that the duties of directors are public and have no relation to private interests or personal preferences

It is a little difficult to keep in this straight and narrow path of duty The average director is apt to stray away among the bright flowers of his own conceits and his own friendships, but when he does he strays from the right and gets more and more in error and entanglement as he proceeds There is no safe and sure path save that indicated

The School Board is walking right, and the Town Council is heading properly Government for the people is coming to its own in Connellsville

THE DANGERS OF THE RUNNING BOARD.

The serious and perhaps fatal trolley accident of yesterday illustrates anew the dangers of the summer car's running board as a passenger perch

The very nature of the summer car makes it impossible to prevent passengers from using the running board during a crowded period The schedules on the through cars are too far apart to be spanned with patience The average traveler prefers to endure the inconvenience and face the perils of the running board, and he demands that position as a right It would take an army of Cossacks to keep him off, especially if he is going to a ball game

We are sensible of the difficulty of handling trolley crowds because of the impossibility of gauging trolley travel with any degree of accuracy, but in so far as it is possible to estimate it the trolley managers should provide for it by running additional cars even if they were only trailers involving no extra trainmen

In the meantime, however, running board passengers should keep close to the car at all times If it is necessary for the conductor to pass them he should take the outside because he is familiar with the dangers of the line and better knows how to avoid them

UNIONTOWN'S HOSPITAL SCANDAL.

The charges against the management of the Uniontown hospital are too grave to be dismissed or to be prejudged

SESSION IN GERMAN.

Chief Rottler Helped Two Swiss Prisoners Who Are Turned Over to the Liederkranz

A German session of police court was held this morning at which Chief of Police B Rottler was the interpreter Charles Schnaidler of Bern Switzerland and Gustave Nimptsch of Bremen, Germany two 20 year old youths were the culprits They were arrested last night by Officer W T Bayless for trespassing The boys were two rather intelligent fellows but rather small for their ages

They both stated that they left the old country and worked their way over to New York where they encountered an employment agent who sent them to the West Virginia coal fields When they arrived there they found that there was a strike on and refused to work While in America they concluded that they would see the country and started out on a tour They gave an account of their wanderings in America and stated that they were on their way east to take a boat for home Nimptsch said that he was due for service in the army and that as soon as he would get to Bremen he would report and take up his work as a baker for King William's soldiers He was anxious to serve his time in the army Schnaidler said that he was bound for Paris where he had a brother He also stated that he could have found plenty of work here in the telephone business and he been able to speak the English language He learned his trade in Switzerland

Burgess Solsson asked them what the officials did to train riders in Germany and both of the boys took a good laugh They stated that railroads in Germany were fenced off and it was impossible to walk upon the tracks Severe penalties were given persons caught on the tracks and guards were stationed along the roadway at short distances

Burgess Solsson dismissed the case by turning the boys over to the Liederkranz Society to take care of and help them on their way Chief Rottler furnished them with some clothing and food

CHAPTER XV.

It was now December, and the senate had been in session for over a week. Jefferson had not forgotten his promise, and one day, about two weeks after Mr. Bagley's spectacular dismissal from the Ryder residence, he had brought Shirley the two letters. She did not ask him how he got them, if he forced the drawer or procured the key. It sufficed for her that the precious letters, the absolute proof of her father's innocence, were at last in her possession. She at once sent them off by registered mail to Stott, who immediately acknowledged receipt and at the same time announced his departure for Washington that night. He promised to keep her constantly informed of what he was doing and how her father's case was going. It could, he thought, be only a matter of a few days now before the result of the proceedings would be known.

The approach of the crisis made Shirley exceedingly nervous, and it was only by the exercise of the greatest self control that she did not betray the terrible anxiety she felt. The Ryder biography was nearly finished, and her stay in Seventy-fourth street would soon come to an end. She had a serious talk with Jefferson, who contrived to see a good deal of her, entirely unsuspected by his parents, for Mr. and Mrs. Ryder had no reason to believe that their son had any more than a mere bowing acquaintance with the clever young authoress. Now that Mr. Bagley was no longer there to spy upon their actions these clandestine interviews had been comparatively easy. Shirley brought to bear all the arguments she could think of to convince Jefferson of the hopelessness of their engagement. She insisted that she could never be his wife; circumstances over which they had no control made that dream impossible. It were better, she said, to part now rather than incur the risk of being unhappy later. But Jefferson refused to be convinced. He argued and pleaded, and he even swore—strange, desperate words that Shirley had never heard before and which alarmed her not a little—and the discussion ended usually by a kiss which put Shirley completely hors de combat.

Meantime, John Ryder had not ceased worrying about his son. The removal of Kate Roberts as a factor in his future had not eliminated the danger of Jefferson taking the bit between his teeth one day and contracting a secret marriage with the daughter of his enemy, and when he thought of the mere possibility of such a thing happening he stormed and raved until his wife, accustomed as she was to his choleric outbursts, was thoroughly frightened. For some time after Bagley's departure, father and son got along together fairly amicably, but Ryder senior was quick to see that Jefferson had something on his mind which was worrying him, and he rightly attributed it to his infatuation for Miss Rossmore. He was convinced that his son knew where the judge's daughter was, although his own efforts to discover her whereabouts had been unsuccessful.

Sergeant Ellison had confessed absolute failure. Miss Rossmore, he reported, had disappeared as completely as if the earth had swallowed her, and further search was futile. Knowing well his son's impulsive, headstrong disposition, Ryder senior believed him quite capable of marrying the girl secretly any time. The only thing that John Ryder did not know was that Shirley Rossmore was not the kind of a girl to allow any man to inveigle her into a secret marriage. The Colossus, who judged the world's morals by his own, was not, of course, aware of this, and he worried night and day thinking what he could do to prevent his son from marrying the daughter of the man he had wronged.

The more he pondered over it the more he regretted that there was not some other girl with whom Jefferson could fall in love and marry. He need not seek a rich girl—there was certainly enough money in the Ryder family to provide for both. He wished they knew a girl, for example, as attractive and clever as Miss Green. Ah, he thought, there was a girl who would make a man of Jefferson—brainy, ambitious, active! And the more he thought of it the more the idea grew on him that Miss Green would be an ideal daughter-in-law and at the same time snatch his son from the clutches of the Rossmore woman.

Jefferson during all these weeks was growing more and more impatient. He knew that any day now Shirley might take her departure from their house and return to Massapequa. If the impeachment proceedings went against her father it was more than likely that he would lose her forever, and if, on the contrary, the judge were acquitted Shirley never would be willing to marry him without his father's consent, and this, he felt, he would never obtain. He resolved therefore to have a final interview with his father and declare boldly his intention of making Miss Rossmore his wife regardless of the consequences.

The opportunity came one evening after dinner. Ryder senior was sitting alone in the library reading; Mrs. Ryder had gone to the theater with a friend; Shirley, as usual, was writing in her room, giving the final touches to her now completed "History of the Empire Trading Company." Jefferson took the bull by the horns and boldly accosted his redoubtable parent.

"May I have a few minutes of your time, father?"

Ryder senior laid aside the paper he was reading and looked up. It was unusual for his son to come to him on any errand, and he liked to encourage it.

"Certainly, Jefferson. What is it?"

"I want to appeal to you, sir. I want you to use your influence before it is too late to save Judge Rossmore. A word from you at this time would do wonders in Washington."

The financier swung half round in his chair, the smile of greeting faded out of his face, and his voice was hard as he replied coldly:

"Again? I thought we had agreed not to discuss Judge Rossmore any further?"

"I can't help it, sir," rejoined Jefferson, undeterred by his sire's hostile attitude. "That poor old man is practically on trial for his life. He is as innocent of wrongdoing as a child unborn, and you know it. You could save him if you would."

"Jefferson," answered Ryder senior, biting his lip to restrain his impatience, "I told you before that I could not interfere even if I would, and I won't, because that man is my enemy. Important business interests which you cannot possibly know anything about, demand his dismissal from the bench."

"Surely your business interests don't demand the sacrifice of a man's life!" retorted Jefferson. "I know modern business methods are none too squeamish, but I should think you'd draw the line at deliberate murder!"

Ryder sprang to his feet and for a moment stood glaring at the young man. His lips moved, but no sound came from them. Suppressed wrath rendered him speechless. What was the world coming to when a son could talk to his father in this manner?

"How dare you presume to judge my actions or to criticise my methods?" he burst out finally.

"You force me to do so," answered Jefferson hotly. "I want to tell you that I am heartily ashamed of this whole affair and your connection with it, and since you refuse to make reparation in the only way possible for the wrong you and your associates have done Judge Rossmore—that is, by saving him in the senate—I think it only fair to warn you that I take back my word in regard to not marrying without your consent. I want you to know that I intend to marry Miss Rossmore as soon as she will consent to become my wife—that is," he added, with bitterness, "if I can succeed in overcoming her prejudices against my family"—

Ryder senior laughed contemptuously.

"Prejudices against a thousand million dollars?" he exclaimed skeptically.

"Yes," replied Jefferson decisively, "prejudices against our family, against you and your business practices. Money is not everything. One day you will find that out. I tell you definitely that I intend to make Miss Rossmore my wife."

Ryder senior made no reply, and as Jefferson had expected an explosion, this unnatural calm rather startled him. He was sorry he had spoken so harshly. It was his father, after all.

"You've forced me to defy you, father," he added. "I'm sorry"—

Ryder senior shrugged his shoulders and resumed his seat. He lit another cigar and with affected carelessness he said:

"All right, Jeff, my boy, we'll let it go at that. You're sorry—so am I. You've shown me your cards—I'll show you mine."

His composed, unruffled manner vanished. He suddenly threw off the mask and revealed the tempest

"How dare you presume to judge my actions!"

that was raging within. He leaned across the desk, his face convulsed with uncontrollable passion, a terrifying picture of human wrath. Shaking his fist at his son he shouted:

"When I get through with Judge Rossmore at Washington, I'll start after his daughter. This time tomorrow he'll be a disgraced man. A week later she will be a notorious woman. Then we'll see if you'll be so eager to marry her!"

"Father!" cried Jefferson.

"There is sure to be something in her life that won't bear inspection," sneered Ryder. "There is in everybody's life. I'll find out what it is. Where is she today? She can't be found. No one knows where she is—not even her own mother. Something is wrong—the girl's no good!"

Jefferson started forward as if to resent these insults to the woman he loved, but, realizing that it was his own father, he stopped short and his hands fell powerless at his side.

"Well, is that all?" inquired Ryder senior, with a sneer.

"That's all," replied Jefferson. "I'm going. Goodby."

"Goodby," answered his father indifferently. "Leave your address with your mother."

Jefferson left the room and Ryder senior, as if exhausted by the violence of his own outburst, sank back limp in his chair. The crisis he dreaded had come at last. His son had openly defied his authority and was going to marry the daughter of his enemy. He must do something to prevent it; the marriage must not take place, but what could he do? The boy was of age and legally his own master. He could do nothing to restrain his actions unless they put him in a lunatic asylum. He would rather see his son there, he mused, than married to the Rossmore woman.

Presently there was a timid knock at the library door. Ryder rose from his seat and went to see who was there. To his surprise it was Miss Green.

"May I come in?" asked Shirley.

"Certainly, by all means—sit down."

He drew up a chair for her, and his manner was so cordial that it was easy to see she was a welcome visitor.

"Mr. Ryder," she began in a low, tremulous voice, "I have come to see you on a very important matter. I've been waiting to see you all evening, and as I shall be here only a short time longer I want to ask you a great favor, perhaps the greatest you were ever asked. I want to ask you for mercy—for mercy to"—

She stopped and glanced nervously at him, but she saw he was paying no attention to what she was saying. He was pulling heavily at his cigar, entirely preoccupied with his own thoughts. Her sudden silence aroused him. He apologized.

"Oh, excuse me! I didn't quite catch what you were saying."

She said nothing, wondering what had happened to render him so absent minded. He read the question in her face, for, turning toward her, he exclaimed:

"For the first time in my life I am face to face with defeat. Defeat of the most humiliating kind, hopeless inability to retaliate, or to a limited extent. I can rule a government, but I can't manage my own family—my own son. I'm a failure. Tell me," he added, approaching to her, "why can't I rule my own household, why can't I govern my own child?"

"Why can't you govern yourself?" said Shirley quietly.

Ryder looked keenly at her for a moment without answering her question; then, as if prompted by a sudden inspiration, he said:

"You can help me, but not by preaching at me. [illegible] life. I ever made you a living wage for help. I'm only asking a favor of you with men. This time there's a woman in the case, and I need your woman's wit"—

"How can I help you?" asked Shirley.

"I don't know," he answered with suppressed excitement. "As I told you, I am up against a blank wall. I can't see my way." He gave a nervous little laugh and went on: "I'm ashamed of myself, ashamed! Did you ever read the fable of the Lion and the Mouse? Well, I write you to know with your sharp woman's teeth all the cords which bind the son of John Barkett Ryder to this Rossmore woman. I want you to be the means to set me free of this disgraceful entanglement."

"How?" asked Shirley calmly.

"Ah, that's just it, how?" he replied. "Can't you think, you've a woman—you have youth, beauty, brains." He stopped and eyed her closely until she reddened from the unwavering scrutiny. Then he blurted out: "By George! Marry him yourself—force him to let go of this other woman! Why not? Come, what do you say?"

This unexpected suggestion came upon Shirley with all the force of a physical shock. She knew Ryder saw the falseness of her position. This man was asking for her hand for his son under this impression, but she was another woman. It would be dishonorable of her to keep up the deception any longer. She put out her hand over her face to conceal her confusion.

"You—you must give me time to think," she stammered. "Suppose I don't love your son. I should want something—something to compensate."

"Something to compensate?" echoed Ryder, surprised and a little disconcerted. "Why the boy will inherit millions—I don't know how many."

"No—no, not money," pleaded Shirley. "Money only couple hearts those who love money. It—something else—a man's honor, a man's life! It means nothing to you."

He gazed at her, puzzled, perplexed. Full of his own project, he had no mind for nothing else. Ignoring therefore the question of compensation, whatever she might mean by that, he continued:

"You can win him if you make up your mind to. A woman, with your resources, can blind him to any other woman."

"But if he loves Judge Rossmore's daughter?" objected Shirley.

"It's for you to make him forget her, and you can," replied the financier confidently. "My desire is to separate him from this Rossmore woman at any cost. You must help me." His earnestness relaxed somewhat, and his eyes fell on her gladly. "Do you know I should be glad to feel you won't have to leave me? Mrs. Ryder has taken a fancy to you, and I guess it will [illegible] you when you go?"

"You ask me to be your son's wife and you know nothing of my family," said Shirley.

"I know you. That is sufficient," he replied.

"No, no, you don't," returned Shirley, "nor do you know your son. He has more constancy, more strength of character, than you think and far more principle than you have."

"So much the greater the victory for you," he answered good humoredly.

"Ah," she said reproachfully, "you do not love your son."

"I do love him," replied Ryder warmly. "It's because I love him that I'm such a fool in this matter. Don't you see that if he marries this girl it would separate us and I should lose him? I don't want to lose him. If I welcomed her to my house, it would make me the laughing stock of all my friends and business associates. Come, will you join forces with me?"

Shirley shook her head and was about to reply when the telephone bell rang. Ryder took up the receiver and spoke to the butler downstairs:

"Who's that? Judge Stott? Tell him I'm too busy to see any one. What's that? A man's life at stake? What's that to do with me? Tell him"—

On hearing Stott's name, Shirley nearly betrayed herself. She turned pale and half started up from her chair. Something serious must have happened to bring her father's legal adviser to the Ryder residence at such an hour! She thought he was in Washington. Could it be that the proceedings in the senate were ended and the result known? She could hardly conceal her anxiety and instinctively she placed her hand on Ryder's arm.

"No, Mr. Ryder, do see Judge Stott! You must see him. I know who he is. Your son has told me. Judge Stott is one of Judge Rossmore's advisers. See him. You may find out something about the girl. You may find out where she is. If Jefferson finds out you have refused to see her father's friend at such a critical time, it will only make him sympathize more deeply with the Rossmores, and you know sympathy is akin to love. That's what you want to avoid, isn't it?"

Ryder still held the telephone, hesitating what to do. What she said sounded like good sense.

Speed Recorders.

Pedometers, cyclometers and other machines for recording distance date from the Romans. The Roman Emperor Portinax, in the second century, affixed one to his chariot. He was able to see how far he went over the admirable Roman roads. Although the Romans had no automobiles, it was possible to make 100 miles a day over these celebrated roads with relays of horses.

Anna Katharine Green

This distinguished author's face may not be familiar to all of our readers but her name is and we are sure they will be glad to know we have secured for our columns one of her very best stories—in fact, her best, according to eminent authorities.

The New York Times Saturday Review of Books says:

"The Woman in the Alcove" is the best detective story Anna Katharine Green has ever written, and among American makers of this popular kind of fiction Anna Katharine Green has been easily first. "The Woman in the Alcove" is, indeed, one of the most fascinating books of the sort, superior in content, it seems to us, to either "The Filigree Ball" or "The Millionaire Baby," and as absorbing as any of their predecessors.

The Chicago Daily News, Boston Transcript, Buffalo Times, Indianapolis News and St. Paul Dispatch agree with this opinion.

IN THIS PAPER

The Woman in the Alcove will be printed in this paper beginning in a short time. Look for further announcements.

THE UNWRITTEN LAW.

That Will Be Defense of Mrs. Bowie and Her Son.

KILLED BETRAYER OF SISTER

Mother of Maryland Girl Also Fired Revolver Bullet Into Body of Man Who Refused to Right Wrong He Had Done Girl.

Publishers' Press Telegram.

LAPATTA, Md., July 11.—Calm and solid as a Spartan mother, Mrs. Mollie Bowie took the stand today in defense of herself and her son, Henry Bowie, jointly charged with killing Herbert Posey, the betrayer of Miss Priscilla Bowie, daughter and sister of the defendants. The preliminaries were entirely devoid of claptrap, the defendants standing on the plain unleveled plea of justification under the unwritten law of the South. They admit the killing and justify it by an inalienable right to protect the sacredness of home.

Almost universal is the opinion that the defendants will go free. A remarkable feature is that the first 12 talesmen qualified as jurors. "All I ask for is 12 Marylanders," was Mrs. Bowie's instructions to her attorneys. The State consumed but a few minutes in presenting its case, proving that Mrs. Bowie had fired a revolver at Posey and that her son fired the contents of a shot gun into the body of the young man as the latter fled after refusing to marry the girl he had wronged

Presenting the case for the defense, Mrs. Bowie's attorneys' plea was made openly under the unwritten law with an appeal to the chavilry and respect for woman characteristic of Southerners. Details of the incidents leading up to the killing and a recital of the tragedy was followed by the calling of Mrs. Bowie. It is expected the case will go to the jury by tomorrow.

TALKED ON MISSIONS.

Japanese Minister and Rev. Layman Interest Good Audience at the United Brethren Church.

A very interesting Missionary meeting was held yesterday afternoon and evening in the United Brethren Church on Crawford avenue. Rev. Leigh Layman, pastor of the local Methodist Protestant Church, and Rev. Takijiro Ishiguro of Kyoto, Japan,, were the principal speakers. Rev. Layman gave an interesting talk on "The Hinderances to Mission Work in Japan," and Rev. Ishiguro spoke in a general way upon the work. Last evening he spoke on "The Religions in Japan, and Christianity," giving his own experiences as to how he was led to accept Christianity. Rev. Ishiguro is a graduate of one of the best universities of Kyoto, Japan. He began to study the reasons for certain things and especially the world and man, and his future, and not being able to find anything to help him in the heathen religion, he turned his eyes upon the bible and after a year's study under a missionary, accepted Christianity, and has since been preaching the gospel. He is now taking a post graduate course in the Union Biblical Seminary at Dayton O. Those who attended the services last evening will long remember his wonderful experience. Rev. Ishiguro is being entertained by Rev. and Mrs. W. V. Barnhart at their home on Crawford avenue. This evening he will deliver a talk at Owensdale and tomorrow evening at Everson.

ASHE ELECTED

Assistant Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and Will Begin Duties in August.

Stanley P. Ashe, son of Rev. A. J. Ashe, has been elected assistant secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association. He will begin his duties on August 1. Mr. Ashe is a graduate of the Clarion State Normal School and is excellently fitted for the position. He has been for some time a supervisor and director of one of the public playgrounds of Pittsburg.

The Board is considering the application of Fred Prosch of Newark, N. J., as physical director and he will in all probability be elected. He was one of the directors of the Yale gymnasium and was closely associated with John Mack, Yale's great coach. It will be known in a few days whether he will come on to Connellsville or not.

GIVE BOND.

Adams Express Company Take Fee Case to Higher Court.

UNIONTOWN, July 11.—The Adams Express Company gave bond this morning in the case of Charles M. Fee for $225 due for services rendered, and the case will now go to the higher court. The charges are for the services Constable Fee rendered by making a trip to Carlsbad, New Mexico, for James Hoke, who was wanted for robbing the Express company's office at New Salem and the theft of $500.

Fee alleges that the company agreed to pay him $500 for the trip and that they did pay him $275, but refused to pay him the balance. The case was tried last October and he was awarded the full amount.

FEENEY'S HONEYMOON.

It Ended With the Groom in Uniontown Jail.

Returning from his wedding trip to Cumberland, where he was married yesterday Frank Feeney landed in Dunbar last night, and after being refused lodging there he became abusive to his bride. Officer Stull placed him under arrest and when he was closing the borough lockup door upon him he broke away. The Uniontown officers were notified and he was captured there on the last car shortly after midnight.

After being lodged in jail at Uniontown, his bride was accommodated with a room at a Dunbar hotel. This morning Constable Duncan of Dunbar went to Uniontown and served warrants upon him charging him with resisting arrest, disorderly conduct and breaking jail. He will be given a hearing this evening.

TO FOLLOW ANDREE

About August 1 Wellman Will Start for North Pole.

Spitzbergen, July 5, via Tromsoe, Norway, July 11.—The balloon house of the Wellman arctic expedition was damaged by a storm July 4, and although the airship was uninjured the accident probably will delay the departure of the expedition, the members of which, by dint of hard work all night long, managed to save the building from being wrecked. The Frithjof dragged her anchors half a mile during the storm and will be dispatched to Tromsoe for repairs.

All the members of Mr. Wellman's party are all in good health. It is expected that the start for the pole will be made in the beginning of August.

Our Daily Bulletin

CONNELLSVILLE | PUBLISHED EVERY EVENING — TELLS TOMORROWS NEWS | UNIONTOWN

A Lecturer said: "When we pass into other forms of existence after this life, we simply develop the life and tastes we had here." A widow in the audience sighed "Poor William." A friend asked: "What's the matter with him?" The widow answered: "He was so fond of smoking."

This woman took it for granted that the lecturer's words were true. That's the way, apparently, with some merchants. They don't seem to realize anything but their own supposed importance. They seem to believe that their establishment is "the only one." They suffer from their narrow views and take it for granted that they haven't worthy competition. We study our competitors thoroughly. It's business to do so, and a large part of our phenominal business growth is due to meeting legitimate competition always with values as good or better. The failure of any concern is assured that is "awake" only to its own importance.
